RAISE DUST CLOUDS DASHING TO PACIFIC

ECOLOGISTS VISIT NATIONAL PARK AND ARE NEARING
END OF TRIP

Blackfoot, Ida., July 12, 1919 Yes, we're in the west now, the real wild and dusty west, judging from the amount of real estate we are in possession of at the end of the day.

After leaving Columbus, Neb., and the hospitable Bruggers, the Oberlin college caravan sped merrily on its way through western Nebraska and picturesque Wyoming, having the next installment of the progressive house party at the home of Mildred Kenney, '19, in Wheatland. Here we had real baths and real beds. The glorious Fourth was celebrated in characteristic manner with a real "blow-out," and "round-up" later on when the evening shadows had fallen. After helping the Fords over several particularly ambitious hills and testing out the efficacy of hobnailed boots for mountain climbing we reached Cody, the home of Col. Cody, more universally known as "Buffalo Bill." Here we were met by Mildred Sweeney, '19, whose presence added an air of civilization to our party all through the park. The Yellowstone! Here we feel like the famous character in "My Double and How He Undid Me" who, whenever he was called upon to make a speech always said, "There has been so much said that I need not further occupy the time." So just read the Government Bulletin or Hayne's Guide and take our word for it, it's all true. The bears come around camp and pose for snapshots, the geysers spout and the hot springs spring and to try to remember the names of all the flora and fauna positively makes one dizzy.

We have left the mountains and the park and are now stirring up the Idaho dust along the roads that lead eventually to "the shingling big sea water."

WHO'S WHO

Prince Max
It is reported in Paris that Prince

Maximilian of Baden, learning of a Communist plot to attack his residence, has fled to Switzerland. It is said that he crossed from Salem on Lake Constance, where he has an estate, to Botinghofen, on Swiss territory.

Prince Max, heir to the Grand Duchy of Baden, was the last Imperial German chancellor under the rule of the Hohenzollerns. He was appointed in October, 1918, and it was he who asked President Wilson to arrange the armistice which ended the war. It was also he who announced the abdication of the German emperor and the crown prince.
He was appointed regent of the German empire after the fall of the kaiser, but his rule was brief.

been erected and various religious conferences are almost constantly in session throughout the summer.

Do Something for Yourself

YOU read about men who started as newsboys and became bank presidents. You have seen two men start at the same age, with equal opportunities. You have watched one climb to success, while the other stood still. Thousands of people have started with nothing and made good. These people have accomplished no miracles. Step by step, they have lifted themselves to success by hard work, contending against difficulties as great or greater than any you have to contend against. Why is it someone other than you always accomplishes these things? Will it ever be you?

Other People Do Things—You Read About Them

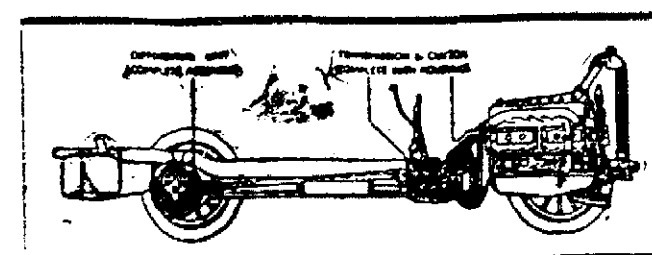

If the men who organized the stock companies which have been so phenomenally successful in recent years had waited until they had all the money they needed before building their factories and getting into production, they would still be waiting, and no one would have made any fortunes at all. But these men were doers. They borrowed money from other doers, who had the courage to invest in propositions in which they believed. The dividends that resulted made both the borrowers and the stockholders wealthy beyond their fondest dreams —but that, again, was somebody else. That was not you. You are reading about them.

This Is for You.

Consider that this opportunity here is intended for you, and for you alone. Determine today that you will not rest until you have decided upon a good stock for yourself, and, one way or another, have financed an investment in it. You will not have to spend more than a postage stamp and some of your time to find out the truth about the Jones Gear Co., the men who have organized it, and the needs for its products. You can find out from banks and from other concerns in the industry. We help you, but you will have to do your part yourself.

History of Accomplishment.

Mr. Frank H. Jones is a doer. He has climbed through the various phases of the gear industry into the directorates of two of the largest gear companies in the country. Mr. Jones has designed and perfected improvements in transmissions, clutches, differentials and cut gears which have affected the entire industry. He brings sixteen years of vitalized experience with gears and men into the organization of the Jones Gear Co. He has organized with Cleveland men. They are now rushing to completion in Cleveland the most modern gear plant that has ever been built.

Cleveland's Most Needed Industry.

Cleveland manufacturers must now buy outside of Cleveland most of the products such as the Jones Gear Co. will make. These manufacturers know Mr. Jones and what he has accomplished. They have already made inquiries for deliveries, which, if accepted will be sufficient to keep the first unit of the new factory at capacity production for twelve months.

Stock Selling Rapidly.

The stock offered by the Jones Gear Co. has sold most readily to men in the automotive industry and those familiar with it. Your opportunity to share the advantages of early investors is passing. Your opportunity to invest at all will be gone in a few months. You can now buy cumulative stock, preferred as to assets and dividends, at par value, $100.00. This stock earns a 7% dividend and participates in the earnings of the company up to a total of 14% annually, an unusually favorable feature for Preferred Stock. No gifts are being made of common stock. It is being sold to purchasers of Preferred in smaller lots at $10.00 a share, par value. All Jones Gear Co. stock that you buy has a cash value.

Investigate This Yourself.

You read about this opportunity to make money. Possibly you believe in it. You agree that someone will make the profits, but it seems so far away from your own actuality. If you want after one single good investment opportunity, concentrated your time and energy to making sure that it was right for you, and then went through with it until you had your money earning dividends for you, you would marvel at the simplicity of the thing, and others would marvel at you. You would not have to read about somebody else having the things you want, but you would have them yourself. This coupon is printed for your convenience, not for someone else. Clip it now and send it in.

DISCUSS 1920 CAMPAIGN

President Wilson and Chairman Cummings Held Conference.

Washington, July 31.—Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, discussed with President Wilson the political outlook for 1920 and the attitude of the country toward the peace treaty and the league of nations, describing his observations during his recent two months' trip through 14 western states.

The conference lasted more than a half hour. Mr. Cummings refused to discuss the possibility of Mr. Wilson's again leading his party in the 1920 election and would not affirm or deny that this subject was broached during the conference.

Chairman Cummings said he told the president the country was overwhelmingly in favor of immediate ratification of the treaty and its league of nations covenant without change or reservation. As to the political situation, Mr. Cummings was understood to have been emphatically confident.

State Troops Called Out

Chicago, July 31.—State troops were ordered from the armories last night to various points regarded as danger centers. Request for the troops was made to Adjutant General Dickson by Mayor Thompson to control the race riots. It seems to be generally believed that placing the militia on patrol duty will prevent further serious rioting.

Branch Offices in Ohio

Washington, July 31.—The bureau of internal revenue is planning to bring the internal revenue "home to the people" of Ohio by establishment of a number of branch offices throughout the state where taxpayers may pay their taxes and receive information. The whole idea is to impose the burdens of taxation with the least inconvenience possible.

Effort to End Coal Strike Fails.
London, July 31.—An attempt to settle the Yorkshire coal strike proved unsuccessful. The conference of mine owners and strikers, held at Leeds, at which it was hoped a solution of the difficulty might be reached, failed to effect an agreement.

Touching Up Bulgarian Treaty.
Paris, July 31.—The Bulgarian peace treaty has been taken up again by the supreme council of the peace conference. With the exception of the delineation of the boundaries of Bulgaria, the terms now are virtually complete, the economic clauses having been approved by the council.

NEWS IN THE SPORTING WORLD

GOLF KING AGAIN

WALTER HAGEN
NEW OPEN GOLF
AMERICA.

Walter Hagen, the new open golf champion, first leaped into fame when he beat Chick Evans by a single stroke in the open championship at Coney Island in 1914. The Detroit pro has a world of confidence and nerve to burn—a bold aggressive player, going after everything in a determined manner. He is a long driver and his iron shots carry at the best of them. Hagen has a powerful wrist and forearm stroke that tears into a ball with terrific force, getting fine distance from a heavy lie, where another man would lose a stroke. Hagen thinks his confidence and iron nerve had more to do with his winning the championship than any other item. "Golf strain," says Hagen, "is probably greater than in any other sport with the possible exception of billiards. I have played all games and am good at most of them, but for a nervous strain golf gets the call. The action is not continuous like baseball, boxing or tennis, and the golfer who misuses has considerable time to worry and unsteady himself before making the next stroke. Spectators at a match see many hazards on the links, but they don't see the chief one of all—the players' nerves. The only game similar to golf in nerve strain is billiards, which easily gets the players' goat." Detroit can now boast of three winners, Hagen, Cobb and "Henry."

COURT HOUSE RATS TO PLAY AT NEW LONDON

BAIRD SCORED ON FIRST TIME IN TWENTY-TWO INNINGS WED.

After pitching twenty-two scoreless innings, "Red" Baird, that young smoke-ball pitcher for the Court House Rats, was scored on by the Red Triangles. However, it was not "Red's" fault, as Davies muffed up Vaughn's easy tap allowing Granger to cross the plate. The Rats won 7 to 1.

The Rats started scoring in the second inning. With two down, Myers doubled to right and stole third. Davies walked and stole unmolested. Myers scored on a passed ball. Baird's stouder get away from him.

Three more were added in the next inning. Birch singled to left. Nichols fanned. Webber then hit to Vaughn who must have thought Pittinger was playing first base in an observation balloon, throwing the ball ten feet over his head. Webber scored on Myers' single to left.

They added another in the fifth when Davies got on by an error, and scored on Ambrose's sacrifice fly. Nichols scored the last run when he singled, and tallied on Chisholm's single to center.

Consistency a Jewel

The New York Sun pertinently remarks: "When Chris Mathewson and Branch Rickey played ball each had clauses put in their contracts that they would be exempted from Sunday ball games. Matty coached on Sunday, but Rickey doesn't manage a team on Sunday. But suppose all his players took the same attitude? What then? Seems to be a 'conscientious objector' on the question of Sunday ball and yet not averse to profiting therefrom. To be entirely consistent Mr. Rickey should have no connection whatever with any organization that aids and abets Sunday baseball for profit."

WICOTTE STANDS AS THE YEAR'S TWIRLING STAR

Eddie Cicotte.

Old Eddie Cicotte of the White Sox stands out so far as the star pitcher of the 1919 big league season. When he beat Ernie Shore in a pitching duel July 20, in Chicago, Cicotte hung up his eighteenth victory of the season. He had beaten the Browns twice, Washington once and all the other clubs three times, just to show that he showed no favoritism.

CLEVELAND INDIANS' OFFER TURNED DOWN

Bid of $12,500 for Pitcher Leonard Is Refused.

Manager Miller Huggins Turns Former Boston Red Sox Hurler Over to Tigers for $2,500 Less Than Jim Dunn Offered.

Can you imagine a ball club disposing of a pitcher for $2,500 less than the highest bid? Well, such a thing probably wouldn't happen in any business other than baseball, but such is the case of "Dutch" Leonard. President Dunn of Cleveland wanted the services of "Dutch" Leonard for the Indians. When it became known that New York was willing to dispose of Leonard the Cleveland magnate at once started to angle for the services of the star southpaw. Dunn realizes that the one and only weak spot on his ball club is his pitching staff. It has been said that a pennant-winning club must have a crack southpaw. Working on that theory, Dunn set out to do business with the New York club.

Now, it so happens that Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees is hopeful of winning an American league pennant for Gotham this year. Huggins is a wise old owl and full well realizes that Cleveland and Chicago loom up as the strongest contenders, with the Boston Red Sox as still a possibility, despite the bad start of that club. No one knew any better than Huggins what the coming of Leonard would do for the Cleveland club. It would have just about made Cleveland the one best bet in the American league. Huggins realized that he could not afford to so strengthen the Cleveland club and thereby jeopardize to a great extent the chances of his team.

It is a matter of record that Jim Dunn was willing to pay $12,500 for the services of Leonard. He knew that "Dutch" would get him back several times that amount at the gate if he made the Indians a stronger pennant contender, if not a winner.

"Dutch" Leonard.

Yet Frank Navin of the Detroit club bought Leonard for $10,000, an even $2,500 less than Cleveland was willing to pay. The Detroit club at the time the deal was made was going poorly. The pitching staff of the Tigers was in far worse shape than that of the Indians. New York realized it could sell Leonard to Detroit, strengthening that team, yet in no way lessen the chances of the New York club to win. A mere matter of $2,500 in such a case meant nothing to the millionaire owners of the Yankees.

Such is the tale of why Leonard was lost to Jim Dunn, even though he was willing to raise the ante of Frank Navin.

WHY JOHN PAUL JONES WON'T USE FAST BALL

Lew McCarty tells an interesting story of John Paul Jones, the Giant youngster now with the Toronto club, who is expected to develop into a major league hurler of first rank with a little more experience. "This spring," says McCarty, "I tried to get Jones to cut loose with all the speed he had, for I could see he was holding back, but he wouldn't do it. One day I asked him why he persisted in keeping under wraps and he told me. "Once I was pitching against the best pal I have," he said, "and I cut loose with a fast ball. My control wasn't good and the ball hit him in the hip. The injury laid him up for three months and marked the end of his baseball career. Since then I've never put all my speed on a ball."

lose Race Among Ohio Counties Selling War Savings Stamps For $10,000 Memorial Shaft

COLUMBUS, O.—(Special).—Licking county leads in the race for the $10,000 Victory Memorial shaft, to be awarded to the county selling the largest percentage of its 1919 War Savings Stamp quota during June, July and August. According to figures just issued by the Ohio War Savings Committee, Licking county has per capita sales of $1.07, while Ross county is second, with average sales of 76 cents. Ross county is third with per capita sales of 70 cents and Warren fourth with per capita sales of 68 cents. Other leading counties and their per capita sales are: Fulton, 67 cents; Logan, 63 cents; Harrison, 56 cents; Brown, 58 cents; Scioto, 50 cents; Geauga, 50 cents; Darke, 47 cents; Marion, 47 cents; Ashland, 46 cents; Delaware, 45 cents; Knox, 45 cents; Coshocton, 44 cents, and Auglaize, 41 cents.

Officials at War Savings headquarters believe that any of the leaders has an excellent chance of winning the memorial and that no county has the prize clinched. It is quite possible, War Savings leaders believe, for some county not now among the 17 leaders to win the shaft. Several dark horses are known to be preparing to get into the race, which is barely half over. The $10,000 memorial shaft to be awarded was contributed by the Barre Quarriers' & Manufacturers' Association of Barre, Vt., as a tribute from the New England states to Ohio for her remarkable war record.

PHILPOTT'S SHOE STORE

Columbus, O., July 20.—Big game is not popular. Yet the ardent devotee of hunting occasionally finds an experience quite as exciting in Ohio as in the wilds of Montana or Wyoming. The story told by Earl Grubbs, relates that after the county of hunting near DeGraff had convinced itself that a large wolf was infesting the neighborhood, an organization for a hunt was perfected. Hunters took the field in the formation of a circle and one mile in each direction. W. E. Telling, president of the Tabor Ice Cream Company, announced today.
